Industry

Logistics Industry

China was accepted into the World Trade Organization (WTO) in November 2001, creating a liberalized, transparent and more predictable trading environment. Consequently, an efficient and effective logistics sector is one of the most crucial factors for China to facilitate its overall economic productivity and improve trade in the region and with the rest of the world.

Growth Strategy

- * In 2007, The Company achieved its planned revenue growth, reached targeted critical mass in the airfreight wholesale co-loading area, and continued to establish its foothold in China.
- * In 2008, the Company plans to further its strategy of establishing a national logistics network in China.
- * In 2009, Grand Power has adjusted its business strategy from rapidly expanding the China market (revenue growth) to consolidating resources and focusing on earnings. The Company is well positioned and ready to capitalize on industry opportunities.

Recent Development

- * Expanded its reach into key European markets through a joint venture agreement with European Cargo Service (ECS), one of Europe's largest air cargo companies.
- * Signed an operating agreement with Beijing Jinfeng Air Service Co. Ltd. (BJAS) to set up a joint venture in Beijing operating cargo logistics and transportation in Northern China.
- * Set up Grand Power Foreign Trade Ltd as an international trading platform for raw material import trading from Europe, Russia and North American to China.
- * Set up Grand Power Logistics Development Ltd as a platform for logistic projects in China.
